Communication 491

The Rhetoric of Western Thought

UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON

It is the responsibility of the communicator to "discover all available means of persuasion"

Aristotle

Persuasion "Bound together in a mutual agreement based on trust."

When you put it all together…

It is the responsibility of the communicator to discover and develop all available means to promote a bonded mutual agreement based on trust.

Make Sure Your Communication Cues Reinforce The Same Message.

How Do I Increase My Chances of Getting a Yes?

COMMUNICATION CUES

What are they?

Communication cues are any stimuli you send that another person uses to decide anything about you or your message.

When I'm talking over the phone, I'm sending approximately ____ communication cues to my listener:

When I'm talking face-to-face with a person, I'm sending approximately ____ communication cues:

A. 2 - 3
B. 4 - 8
C. 10 - 15
D. 16 - 20
E. 21 - 30

Sequencing

- Incremental Agreements
- Building Common Ground
- Slow Dancing

Step 1:

Get to this ledge!

Sequencing is about creating smaller agreements that set the stage for additional agreements to come

THE C R CO.

Progression of Agreements that lead to a Ridiculous Proposition

- Agree to let Frank & Charlie sit down and "wait" with Donna to keep the "womanizers" from bothering her.
- They're all crazy about her Grandmother.
- Grandmother would have liked Charlie.
- Donna likes Charlie.
- They both think Michael is hysterical.

Now the Stage is Set

"Would you like to learn to tango ,Donna?"

(Delivered from a blind man she just met.)

The Connection Goal…

Who is the greatest person you personally know and why?

"He smiled understandingly – much more than understandingly. It was one of those rare smiles with a quality of eternal reassurance in it, that you may come across four or five times in a life. It faced – or seemed to face – the whole eternal world for an instant, and then concentrated on you with an irresistible prejudice in your favor. It understood you just as far as you wanted to be understood, believed in you as you would like to believe in yourself, and assured you that it had precisely the impression of you that, at your best, you hoped to convey."

Elements of the Story

Framing Your Story

- What Are frames?
- Where do frames live?
- Why are they important?

People's minds rely on frames, not facts!

Frames Continued….

- If frames are in the brain, how do we know what our frames are?
- What are some framing words?
- Personal Rights
- Leaving a better world for our children
- God
- Fairness
- Equal Opportunity
- Diversity
- Truth
- Loyalty
- Family
- Justice & Freedom
- Sustainability
- Village
- Community
- Courage
- Doing your fair share
- Responsibility & Shared Accountability

Framing Continued…

- What does all this have to do with telling my story?
- So how do I begin to frame my story?

Once you've got your frame it becomes clear what parts of your story must be shared and what parts can be left out.

HERO – Who is the Hero of the Story?

- Young Couple w/ First Child
- Person who works hard and plays fair.
- Children who want to purchase a home for their parents.
- Senior parents who want to leave a legacy for grandchildren.

VALUES: What are the hero's values?

- Sustainable Investment
- Make a profit
- Nurturing family environment
- Legacy for our children and grandchildren

Quest: What does the hero want to achieve?

- Equity for retirement
- Financial worry-free life for our grandchildren
- A safe and secure home while building equity

THREATS: what stand in the hero's way of achieving the quest?

- A "We're on our own mentality, there's nothing to help us."
- No matter how hard we work, our family has no financial security.
- Lending regulations which specifically work against the hero
- Zoning regulations & Covenants

TOOLS: What is available to assist the hero in achieving her/his quest?

- This is your proposal

VILLIAN: who needs to be held accountable for the threat?

- Personal mindset or lack of information
- The Banks/lending institutions
- Rule Makers
- Legislatures
- Condo Boards

HARM: How is the villain carrying out the threat?

- Unwillingness to accept new information.
- Lawsuits
- Refusing to hear petition

THREE Basic types of stories:

- Springboard
- Accomplishment Narrative
- Change has produced good results narrative

Email from Greg Pinneo to Dr. Shadow on 12/22/17

…"Every seller I have ever dealt with has a story in their head of how they would like their life to go. I have found that if I can hear it / see it / feel it, then I can package my proposition placing them in their own story."

Louis Petroff Story

Dick & Carol Patton

What was driving them?

- Plumbing that worked great
- No septic tank
- New Appliances
- Open Floor Plan
- New Carpet
- Pick your paint.. (White, Oyster, Beige, Alabaster or Bone)
- Garage door opener

How do I Frame the specific terms that I want as a buyer from a Seller benefit perspective?

Substitution of Security Clause
